A Foreword. . .

A new decade on the calendar and a new look at Joliet Junior College; each offers, even promises, much -- the secrets of a new age. The sixties will bring to the people of America untold advancements in all phases of life. Missiles will soar higher, travel will be faster and farther, man will push buttons to live, telephones will permit vision, cars will run by electricity and people will hardly recognize the world in which they live.

Progress will come, too, with the forward march of the junior college movement. Already educators are re-evaluating the advantages of these two-year colleges which seem to be springing up suddenly all over the United States. Our college in Joliet was first and we shall watch as it expands to accommodate the growing legions of young people who come in quest of a college education.

The year of 1959-60 has seen a marked change in the facilities of this junior college. A new cafeteria, larger library and smoker, and a new Press Club office has been added for the use of the students. A record has been broken, too, in enrollment. An army eight hundred strong has registered, with one hundred and fifty more expected next year.

A new era is approaching, the golden era of energy. Uses for atomic energy will reach new heights and human energy will strive to surpass all its previous records. With the increasing demands of the community, the junior college will work with increasing energy to give to its future students the education they desire to meet the challenge of a place in the world. It will take energy, a will of iron, enthusiasm, and courage, with always an eye to the future which holds so much opportunity and moves ahead so rapidly. Lightning fast will be the changes in this new age and quicker still will be the efforts of the junior college to keep up with the progress of the world.

DEDICATION

. . . Mix Susan Wood

No Problem Is Ever Too Small

Whether it is chaperoning our many activities, writing news releases, working for student scholarships, helping individual students, or assisting with the adult education program, no job is too small for Miss Wood. Her first concern is the student and his educational well-being. Regardless of the task involved, she is always ready to lend a helping hand for the benefit of the students.

Despite her busy schedule she is never too busy to attend to her special project, the night school program. She has devoted many hours to this program which benefits many junior college students.

Extra curricular activities are not exclusive with us but take many hours of her free time. The tasks she is called on to perform are all done cheerfully for no other person has more energy, enthusiasm, patience, and understanding than cur Miss Wood.

In appreciation of the dedication she has shown to her work, we, in turn, the class of 1959-60, dedicate this yearbook to her.

Each student receives equal time and attention from Miss Wood when he needs it.

School Days Begin Again . . .

At the JC picnic the boys unsuccessfully tried to beat the girls at tug-of-war.

A student's life is divided into two major categories, academic and social activities. Upon regis tration, students begin another year of these busy activities. There is much to come in the next nine months of school---dances, term papers, exams, plays and trips. So here we are,"knowing" sophomores and "puzzled" freshmen, standing in line for hours in order to register, so we can begin another academic and social year. Our hours of frustration are rewarded, though, by our first social activity, the annual picnic held at Inwood Park. After such a big success, the students are assured that the coming months will be rewarding ones.

Homecoming Is Launched...

The bonfire represents our desire for a victory in the game against Wilson.

Those football girl players play a "mean" game. They tackle like "old pros.

The girls' football game was one of the highlights of the homecoming weekend.

Tom Nelson, Terry Garrett, Ed Haines, and Jim Hancock, a barber shop quartet, entertain at the JJC Homecoming Mixer.

The highlight of the mixer was the announcement of the homecoming queen for 1959. Karen Hancock gasps in disbelief as she realizes she is the queen.

The audience watches in anticipation as the queen is about to be announced.

Homecoming

Preparations for homecoming weekend were begun weeks before the set date of November 7th. Clubs began building floats, committees began working out the details for the weekend activities, and everyone was campaign ing for his queen candidate choice.

Homecoming was launched with the girls' football game held at the athletic field. These girls really had an amazed and amused audience. The bonfire symbolized our hope for a victory against Wilson. Following the bonfire the students went to the " Y " for a mixer. The crowning point was the announcement of the 1959 Homecoming Queen, Karen Hancock.

The next day the clubs scurried around in order to finish the floats by 5 o'clock. At that time the floats were judged, and the parade began.

Huddled figures in the stadium cheered and rooted for the fighting Wolves. Although we lost the game to Wilson, both the players and fans showed enthusiastic school spirit.

During the halftime ceremony the floats circled the field and the winning floats were announced. The Lettermen's - Vet's Club float, a purple people eater, took first place. The Press Club and Choir floats tied for second place. The Business Club won third place. Also during the halftime, the Lettermen's Club presented Mr. Herm Walser, athletic director, with a jacket and blanket in the traditional school colors, purple and white. This night had been designated as "Herm Walser Night."

The climax to the homecoming weekend was the dance held in the gym, which was attended by many alumni and present junior college students.

"Victory! Victory! is our cry!" yell the JC cheerleaders.

These boys are engrossed in the football plays and are hoping for a victory.

Day Arrives . . .

The JC Wolves clash against Wilson Junior College in the thrilling homecoming game.

Striking a regal pose, Queen Karen, who reigns over all the homecoming festivities, greets the crowd with a smile.

A lot of time and hard work are put forth by many students to make a dance successful. Here is a group diligently working on the decorations.

"We could have danced all night!"

"----So you want to lead a band?" Sammy Kaye asks Jeanne Lambert, a contestant of one of the feature highlights of the evening.

Sammy Kaye . . .

November 27, 1959

Dear Diary,

It was just perfect--every minute of it! I'll never forget my first JJC Fall Formal. The the me, "Autumn in Abstract" was carried out very effectively in the decorations. Judy Regis and Gordon Kay, co-chairmen, really did a great job.

As we entered the gym, we heard the music of Sammy Kaye and his orchestra, and we saw the bright colors - red, orange, yellow, black and white-which had transformed the gym into an abstract autumn setting. Modern painting, which had been done by JJC students for the painting contest, covered the walls. During the intermission the judges chose "Gum under Microscope" by Larry Lerfald as one of the outstanding paintings. The climax of the intermission was the Grand March.

The "--so you want to lead a band" contest was directed by Sammy Kaye. Four contestants tried their skill at leading Sammy Kaye's orchestra. Jeanne Lambert's "cool" beat gave her the first place.

The memories of this fall formal will long linger with the JJC students.

Sammy Kaye looks on with approval as the vocahists perform.

Holly, snow, and get-togethers are a part of the traditional American Christmas. The students of JC combine these ingredients at the pre-Christmas mixer at the "Y."

The Vet's Club shares the joys of Christmas with these students from F.E. Marsh School.

With the arrival of the Christmas season, students start the usual round of parties and Christmas giving.

JC students launched the season with a mixer held at the "Y." One of the features was a selection of pantomimes by Mr. Waltz and Mary Lou Fletcher.

The WAL had its annual Mother-Daughter Tea. The Christmas music, presented by the choir, and the Christmas setting put everyone into the Christmas spirit.

The Vet's Club spread its season's spirit by giving a party for the pupils from F.E. Marsh School.

Many of the organizations had parties during the holiday. All these happenings helped the JC students have a jolly Christmas Holiday.

Santa's Holiday

The audience at the Annual WAL MotherDaughter Tea enjoy a program of Christmas music presented by the JJC Choir.

"An egg slicer? That's a novelty!" exclaims Bob Nichols to Tom Wheeler and Joan Krohn, who has just opened her exchange gift at the JC Players and Press Club party.

The Soaring 60's Begin . . .

These kids think, "It's in the bag! " as they fill paper bags with confetti, noisemakers, and hats for the 12 o'clock celebration.
"Happp-py New Year!' and the familiar strains of "Auld Lang Syne" are heard over the sounds of horns and laughing voices. The clock has just struck twelve midnight, and 1960 has begun. JC students are celebrating the occasion while they dance to the music of Bill Pappas Orchestra.

These couples look sedate now, but wait until 12 o'clock and see what happens

The familiar strains of "Auld Lang Syne," played by Bill Pappas' Orchestra, ring in the new year.

The Fausts of the world have continually led humanity down a path of misery over and over again to the same false goals. In this play, the Greek chorus represents the masses of humanity; Faust represents those who have taken the responsibility of leadership and have failed. "After falling down quite a few times, I figured it might be nice just to relax for a while," says Joan Krohn.

Gary Lichtenwalter demonstrates his skill and knowhow as he skis down the snowy slope at Pine Mountain.

Travel . . .

After many weeks of anticipation and planning, January 24th finally rolled around, and thirty-five anxious and excited JJC students, under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bondar, left junior college at $4: 30$ bound for Iron Mountain, Michigan. The bus ride was an experience in itself.

Finally at 1:30 a.m. the bus pulled into the Hillcrest Motel, rooms were assigned, and everyone got situated. At 2:30 things were rather calm and quiet, but at 2:31 things got to "jumping."

Bright and early Saturday morning, everyone boarded the bus and proceeded to the Pine Mountain ski slopes. After several hours all had their skis andwere trying them out. What antics! Going down the slopes backwards, running into other skiiers, and skiing with knees together and feet far apart are only a few examples of the beginners' first runs.

That night everyone went ice skating (to pick up a few more bruises) and then dancing (Who could sit?). It had been quite a day!l

Sunday morning no one looked good, but this was disregarded as everyone proceeded to try another day of skiing. At 2:00 p.m. some were still taking lessons, and others had given up for good. At 3:30 they all said good-bye to Pine Mountain and began the long trip home with the skiers, the bus, and Pine Mountain all the worse for wearl
". . . . But the skis are so big!" laughs Marilyn Flynn as she takes her first steps.

Now here is a new idea--two people on one pair of skis. Linda Brannberg and Dick Schmaedeke say, "Why not?"

Lynn Wolfson, Jim Reeves, and Jeanne Lambert look like they are all dressed for cold weather.

An introduction to George and Henrietta is essential to credit in Mr. Puddicombe's physiology course.

Joan Paul and Trudy Wilkey give a demonstration on meat identification in foods and nutrition class.

Dr. Dellinger and his music students observe Steve Funsten as he puts to practice what he has learned about harmony.

In agriculture, which trains students in the proficiency of farming, a student works on one of his projects.

Scope . . .

Bob Blaesing, Carolyn Wicks, and Mike Gleason test an ion in the chemistry laboratory.

Don Babich, an electronics student, measures voltage with a VTVM meter.

Don Bedford and Jerry Widlowski are engrossed in their dissection of a shark in comparative anatomy.

Lab work gives a student a practical means of learning as shown in this zoology class.

Joan Shepley, Pat Smith, and Pat Treseder put to use what they learned about photograpliy at the newspaper conference.

Marilyn Vonch busily takes notes from reference books for her term paper.

Jerry Leaman types with earnest, so that he will have his term paper finished by the time it is due.

A Time for

Studying for an exam, these students find the halls a convenient location for group study.

A Message From The Deans

I want to write this note as of 1971, for that year should really be the time of our diamond jubilee--75 years old and still going strong. You see, even though the Joliet Junior College is the oldest public junior college in America, it was really never "founded," but like Topsy it just "growed." Some have said it started in 1902, some have used 1901 as the beginning date, but since we have a actually found college accreditation dating back to 1896 let us use '71 as the diamond anniversary celebration year and move ahead until proven wrong.

Looking back from 1971 we see that the junior college at Joliet had 800 students in the fall of 1960 and had more than doubled in size in the last nine years. In fact, every one of those last nine years had shown a sizeable increase and we wonder why it was so hard in 1960 to see that by ' 71 we would have over 2,000 students. Oh, well, they probably did the best they could, not knowing all the other developments that were to take place. Bob Knott and Jerry Hoffman were each president of the Student Council for a semester that year, and, I must say, there haven't been any better presidents since. That was the year we set up the new Press Club office, started the JC cafeteria and enlarged the smoker and library. Successful alumni from that year drop into the office all the time now to reminisce and to admire our more recent facilities. One of our outstanding graduates calls that class of '60 'pioneers in improved education," for their class motto was taken from Woodrow Wilson's famous statement, "Anyone who thinks two years of college is enough has never seen a sophomore."

Elmer W. Rowley (Dean)

With the coming of June, graduation is upon us. This year nearly two hundred men and women will be adding their names to the long list of graduates of Joliet Junior College. Joining the alumni of this school is in itself a challenge for it is the achievements of this group that have brought honor and distinction to the college and to the citizens of the community.

The Joliet Junior College represents a sound investment of the people of this community. Most people think of an investment in terms of money alone. It may, however, have abroad and elastic interpretation; it can be expanded to include any form of constructive activity. Dr. J. Stanley Brown, the founder, and other educators to whom students of Joliet Junior College are indebted, invested not money, but the intangible qualities of time, leadership, vision, and purposeful living. It was the people of the community who invested the money that translated Dr. Brown's dream into reality.

Students invest time and money in higher education in order to prepare themselves for useful careers. While there is a great deal of evidence to prove that college graduates earn more money during their lifetimes than those without a college education, their greatest dividends are the many intangibles which make their lives meaningful and purposeful.

College enrollments are expected to double within the next decade. It is imperative that men and women of today (including those still in college), provide the immediate leadership and the clear vision in extending the facilities for higher education for tomorrow's students. Today is always indebted to the past; tomorrow must be deeply indebted to our present.

JJC Gridders Have Tough Season

Under the direction of new head coach Gil Bell, the JJC football squad had a bleak 1959 season. Hopes for a successful season were dashed early by ineligibilities and injuries.

Joliet faced a rugged seven-game schedule, including games with two junior college elevens that had national JuCo rankings. The end result was an 0-7 over-all record and an 0-5 Illinois Junior College Conference mark.

The Wolves reached their high point of the season in a 13-6 loss to Morton. In that game, Joliet picked up 342 yards offensively to 67 yards to their opponents, only to have Morton score touchdowns on two recovered fumbles.

In season statistics, Joliet led its opposition in first downs by rushing, 42 to 39 , by passing, 16 to 15 , and trailed by penalty six to nine.

Line action is rugged as Dan Racich tries for Wolves' PAT.

The Wolves totaled 824 yards on the ground to their opponents' 879 . In the air, Joliet completed 33 of 90 aerials for 551 yards while the opposition completed 40 of 120 passes for 698 yards.

Halfback Ed Matesevac led the Wolves in scoring for the season with five touchdowns for a total of thirty points. Fullback Henry Marshall topped the team in rushing with 359 yards on 78 carries for a 4.7 average. Jack McDonald, the team's punter, averaged 35.5 yards on 31 kicks.

Guard Bob Felbinger was named to the 1959 Illinois Junior College Conference AllStar squad. Fullback Henry Marshall, end Jerry Hoffman, halfback Ed Matesevac, fullback Jack McDonald, and defensive linebacker Herb Boginis all received honorable mentions.

Wolves End Banner Year in Semi-finals of Region

A. A. "Fizz" Wills piloted the Joliet Junior College Wolves to a 17-8 record while completing his 30th year as head coach.

In meeting and defeating 17 opponents the Joliet five lost only one Illinois Junior College Conference game to cop the 195960 title with an 8-1 record. Wilson JC of Chicago and LaSalle-Peru-Oglesby JC finished in a tie for second place with 7-2 records.

Only four of the season's eight losses were to junior college quintets. Wilson JC spilled the Wolves 96-72 in regular season play and again 84-82 in the semi-finals of the NJCAA Region 4 Tournament.

Joliet was defeated 77-69 by Broome Tech of Binghamton, New York, while bidding for its second straight Broom Tech Holiday Tournament title. The wolves defated Erie County Technical Institute of Buffalo, New York, 90-69 to reach the finals.

Joliet's remaining junior college loss was to Lincoln JC in the final regularly scheduled game. A Joliet squad has never defeated Lincoln at Lincoln, and the loss of a key starter on the injury list made this year no exception.

Wheaton College dumped Joliet twice (once by three points), North Central College tapped the Wolves in one of their two meetings by two points, and Chanute Air Force Base added the final defeat, also by a two point margin.

Joliet's starting five all averaged in double figures for the season.

Bill Sparlin, a freshman guard-forward from Wilmington, paced the Wolves with 421 points. He averaged 18.4.

Joe Pesavento, Joliet's lone sophomore squad member and starting forward, placed second to Sparlin with 393 points and a 16.4 average. The former Lockport star led Joliet in field accuracy with a . 461 mark as a result of his 169 for 367 showing from the floor. Pesavento, strange as it may seem, also scored 393 points as a freshman starter when he was No. 3 in scoring.

Jerry Widlowski, a former Joliet Township ace, scored 351 points for a 14.7 average to take third place honors. He hit a team high of 33 points against Purdue Extension.

Jim Garrison, who prepped at Joliet Catholic, netted 290 points and a 13.2 average for fourth place honors. He missed two games with a pulled wrist tendon.

Dennis Wilhelmi, Joliet's starting center, scored 265 points and maintained an 11.1 average to take fifth place. The former Minooka star led the team with 89 free throws.

Tourney

Davy French, who played in Joliet's final 14 outings, scored 117 points as a reserve. The former Braidwood ace averageda modest 8.4.

Seven other cagers put points on the books during the 1959-60 campaign including Bill Laken of Joliet Township (96); Noel Smith of Peotone (52); Dave Kettwig of Joliet Township (36) Dave Baldwin of Coal City (21); Larry Hutten of Joliet Catholic (10) and Don Weber of Lemont (6).

Coach Wills stands with Joe Pesavento and Bill Sparlin, the two players who achieved All-Star status at the Broome Tech tourney in New York.

The Wolves outdid their opposition in every statlstical category. The Joliet five hit 843 baskets in 1939 tries and added 392 free throws for 2078 points. This averages to 86.6 points per game to make Joliet the fifth best offensive team in the nation. Back in 1957 the Wolves paced the nation with a 96.3 average.

Joliet's opponents netted 720 baskets in 1917 shots, cashed in on 376 free throws for 1816 points and a 72.7 average.

Joliet shot at a . 436 clip in comparison to the opposition's. 376. In the foul department the Wolves held a 468 to 419 margin.

Post-season honors were accorded to several Joliet standouts.

Sparlin was named to the NJCAA Region 4 All-Star team at a guard slot. Pesavento landed a second team forward berth. This All-Star team, for the region which takes in Illinois, was picked by the 12 junior colleges that belong to the National Junior College Athletic Association. (The coaches did the voting).

After the Region 4 tourney held at Joliet Pesavento was named to the first All-Tournament team and Sparlin was placed on the second team. Garrison was given an honorable mention.

Following a 77-65 win over Purdue Extension in the season opener, Joliet mauled Shimer College 90 78 and Morton JC 93-53.

After losing to Wilson the Wolves clobbered Bloom JC of Chicago Heights 100-63 behind Garrison's 23 point effort.

A stalling LaGrange JC club fell 66-34 to the persistent Wolves before the Joliet five departed for the Broome Tech Holiday Tournament.

After returning Joliet dropped Crane JC 99-74 behind Sparlin's 23 and then bombed Elgin JC 102-69.

Coach Wills exchanges a few words with one of his leading scorers for the 1959-60 season.

Bill Sparlin

Wheaton tapped Joliet 88-85 but the Wolves bounced back by downing Chanute Air Force Base 85-75 and Bloom JC 83-62, before falling to the Airmen 78-76 in their second match.

Sparlin's 29 points paced Joliet's highly impressive 86-67 win over LaSalle-Peru-Oglesby JC that spilled the Apaches from their IJCC Conference lead.

A return engagement with Purdue Extension called for a second half barrage by Garrison to bail the Wolves an 82-81 win.

Pesavento's lay-up with three seconds to play gave Joliet a 73-72 decision over North Central College and his 24 points against Moline JC in an 83-72 win gave Joliet its final 8-1 IJCC record.

Joliet Linksmen Take Third In State and Conference

Under the direction of coach Shirley Winterroth, JJC's golf squad gained a third place finish in the Illinois Junior College Conference with a record of three wins and three losses in three matches. All matches were medal play.

The Wolves defeated LaGrange Junior College twice and picked up their third win over Wright Junior College. Losses were suffered at the hands of Thornton Junior College on two occasions, and once to Wright. Joliet's home matches were played at the Woodruff course.

At the conference tournament, played at the Cherry Hill Country Club near Harvey, Joliet finished in a four-team field. Thornton won the tourney with a team score of 327 to win both state and conference titles. Wright took second place with a team total of 338, and Joliet was third with 340. Lyons of LaGrange brought up the rear with a 351 total.

Peppy Co-Eds Lead Cheering Section

What's a team without spirit? Nothing! What's a game without cheerleaders? Nothing! At least that's the way the students at Jolier Junior College feel about the active girls who serve as yell gals at all the football and basketball games played at the home base. These peppy co-eds are always on hand to give a "Yea purple! Yea white!" or a "Victory, Victory! That's our cry!" when the game gets going and the crowd starts to feel the excitement of the plays.

Actively associated with the Boosters' Club at JJC, the cheerleaders -- Kay Zusag, Sherry Presley, Paula Ross, Judy Rakoski, Dawn Hartwig, and Sharon Rum chak -- traveled to away games and helped to make the Boosters' Club a real success.

The Pom Pon girls, who had in previous seasons helped the cheerleaders in the spirit department, were not called into action this year.

JJC Cboir Follows New Mascot Tbrough Harmonious

"Doc" holds new mascot for the JJC Choir. Little Susan is the daughter of the choir president, Larry Raber.

The piano is the center of all music, just as the principal officers of a choral group are the center of the club. JC CHOIR OFFICERS are: Jim Hancock, treasurer; Edie Gunderson, secretary; Warren Walberg, vice-president; Dr. Dellinger, and Larry Raber, president.

Activities of the JJC Choir for the '59-'60 season, under the direction of Hal Dellinger, were many and varied in presentation, stimulating a new freshness and vitality that will long be remembered by it members, and other college associates.

On December 15 and 17, the choir, accompanied by the JC Swing Band, presented a Christmas tour, entertaining schools in Braidwood, Coal City, and Lincolnway. Concerts were also given for the Joliet Businesswomen's Club and Faith Lutheran Church.

The outstanding event of the second semester was the entertaining Spring Musical.

Year of Songfests, Tours, and Spring Musical

Richard Eyrich, Don Martin, Richard Criche and John Schorie, members of the JJC swing band, are about to leave to accombany the choir on their tour.

Journalism Staffs Work on Shield, Blazer

BLAZER STAFF: Joan Shepley, editor; Judy Regis, Casuals typist ; Joe Nichols, Joe Edmon, Bill Caisley, and Jim Agazzi, reporters.

The origin of publications at JJC is the Press Club. This organization keeps the student body well informed by putting out the Blazer, the school newspaper; the Shield, the yearbook; and the College Casuals, a bulletin of information that reaches the students every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. One of the members also writes "The Wolf Call," a weekly column for the Joliet newspapers.

Advisor for these publications is Mrs. Ann Frick of the college staff. Mrs. Frick acts as co-ordinator, sounding board and judge of the ideas presented by Press Club members. Mrs. Vera Smith, of the college English department, acts as sponsor of the yearbook.

Students belonging to the club do not have to be journalism majors. Anyone interested in any phase of publications is urged to join.

Highlights of the year are the holiday parties, newspaper and yearbook conferences, and queen contests for which the Press Club nominates candidates.

Dr. Blatchely, guest speaker, demonstrates his power and information concerning hypnosis while putting his audience in a rather peculiar position. SMS hosted SEA at this interesting meeting.

Students of Medical Science Travel . . .

In 1948 ten young men of Joliet Junior College conceived the idea of banding together to learn more at first hand of the medical profession they were about to enter. Today SMS has beome a well-run, close-knit organization made up of all the students enrolled in any of the medical curricula.

Mr . Puddicombe and Mr. Young guide the organization through its three-fold program which includes pre-arranged field trips to all types of significant medical institutions in the Chicago area, use of clinical medical films, and invitations to eminent practicing members of all branches of the medical profession to speak before the group.

First semester officers Donna Baran, secretary; Mildred Lukancic, vicepresident; John Douros, president; Lynn Wolfson, treasurer; and Mr. Glenn Young, co-sponsor. Mr. Puddicombe is the other sponsor.

Student Council Oversees Year's Activities

Members of the council discuss school activities with Mr. Rowley and Miss Wood.

Student Council is our school government. Regulating various activities of the school is the council's primary job. Meeting regularly every Tuesday morning with Dean Rowley and Miss Wood, the council first undertook to alter their constitution.

Accomplishments of this year's council, headed by Bob Knott the first semester and Jerry Hoffman the second, include new draperies for the smoker, re-upholstering furniture in the lounge, fixing the FM radio in the smoker, and an attempt to install a cigarette machine in the smoker. As we go to press, the council is working out a new system for Homecoming in order to induce more alumni to return.

The Social Council, a special branch of the Student Council, works under the leadership of sponsor Mr. Bondar and president Joan Shepley to plan the minor social events of the school year.

Strives For School Improvements . . .

BUSINESS CLUB, ROW ONE: Bill Laken, Lee Marren, Mr. Corradetti. ROW TWO; Rick Eyrich, Jack Lambakis, Jerry Randolph.

Business Club Learns Methods of Business . . .

Business Club students have an opportunity to combine pleasure and knowledge at JJC.

Meetings which are interesting and informative are the basis on which Miss Lola Emery and Mr. Corradetti, co-sponsors, put into effect the Business Club principles.

Speakers from businesses including finance companies, insurance agencies, and other companies give the students first hand facts about the modern business world.

Gary Lichtenwalter, president, leads the club in social affairs, too. Besides cooperating with the school in supporting issues and queen candidates, the club holds parties and dances, and ends the year with an annual banquet.

Mr. Corradetti's accounting class ponder over business problem while Nancy Merrell, CENTER, seems to have the correct solution.

Veterans Hold Festivity-Filled

VETS' CLUB OFFICERS: Terry Small, student council representative; Larry Lerfald, vice-president; and Bob Knott, secretary-treasurer; Bill Hibner, president, was absent.

Vets have been all around the world, with tales to tell from everywhere. Here at JJC, the Vets contribute much to enlighten JJC students as to what the world's all about.

In first semester the Vets put on a variety show entitled "Around the World in Forty Minutes." Also, in first semester the Vets sponsored a successful food drive in December for the needy people.

The Vets go along with everything at JJC. They grow their beards for Sadie Hawkins, go to the splash and skating parties (as well as have their own), and get after the students to clean up the smoker. The Vets demand respect and get it!
"Standing on a corner watching all the girls go by. . ." Larry Lerfald, sings to Kay Zuzag and Mary Beth Robinson, while Cosmo Misischia and Roger Smith appear uninterested. Kay seems to be putting up a fight.

Year of Food Drives, Parties

Vets' food drive is huge success, so poor families will have a nice Christmas.

Larry Johnson and Jim Nelson have no ears for Wayne Barnett, president, when there's a camera around during a meeting of the JC Players.

Comedy, Slapstick, and Tragedy

JC PLA YERS OFFICERS: Joan Lamb, secretary-reasurer; Jeanne
Williams, vice-president; Joan Krohn, student council representative; and Wayne Barnett, president.

It's been a busy year for the members of the JC Players Club, and a profitable one.

In January a program of three one-act plays was presented under the title of "An Evening in Fantasy.' ? With the beginning of the second semester, work began on "Under Milk Wood" which was presented on April 1 and 2.

Officers for the second semester were: Jeanne Williams, president; Charlene Westerwelle, vice-president; Jim Agazzi, treasurer; and Jeanette Pinnick, secretary.

The Players closed their year with the traditional banquet and presentation of awards.

Portrayed in One-Acts . . .

Engineers Learn New Tricks of Trade . . .

The purpose of the Engineer's Club, as quoted by Mr. Castle, who has been the club's advisor for the past thirteen years, is 'to promote interest in the profession of engineering and give students a better understanding of the practice of engineering and of the different fields of engineering."

Every student enrolled in an engineering course is automatically a member of the group. There are, at present, one hundred engineers enrolled at JJC.

At the monthly meetings, the men have a varied program. Movies, lectures, speakers, and field trips make the meetings interesting and informative.

Trips to the power plants, foundries, and manufacturers' plants add a constructive and professional inspiration to the further engineers.

At one meeting, a former JJC engineering student, Phillip Cary, who is now chief metallurgical engineer for a harvesting company, lectured the group. Demonstrations and drawings showing the many phases of engineering are also widely used by Mr. Castle.

During National Engineers' Week, the Joliet Chapter of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers invites the group to an annual banquet at which time an award is presented to the most outstanding student. This past year, Gene Klett, sophomore, won the award plus a fifty dollar bonus.

The group also issues their own awards based on semester averages. Students with a 3.2 to 3.5 receive a silver pin and students above 3.5 receive gold pins.

The officers of the Engineering group are: Ed Riley, president; Larry Chapman, vice-president; Bob Felbinger, secretarytreasurer; and Joe Spiech, student council representative.

W AL Hosts Sport Nights, Mother-Daughter Tea . . .

WAL's main purpose at JJC is to encourage activity among JJC women. All women of JJC are automatically members. The group meets once a month and sponsors many activities at JJC.

Besides holding several sport nights throughout the year, the WAL plans an annual mother-daughter tea. Kay Zusag, president, headed the committee for the annual spring dance sponsored by WAL.

At the end of the year, the WAL also plans a picnic for all the women. Other officers include Sharon Zamkovitz, vice-president; Donna Krizmanic, secretary; Diana Samios, treasurer; and Judy Regis, student council representative.

Miss Pat Lemanski of the gym department and Miss Georgina Smith of the home economics department sponsor the group.

WAL OFFICERS: Diana Samios, treas urer; Kay Zusag, president; Miss Lemanski, co-sponsor; Sharon Zamkovitz, vice-president; Judy Regis, student council representative; and Donna Krizmanic, secretary.

The Lettermen's Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Walser, athletic director, and Mr. Bell of the physical education department, invites all letter-winners to participate in school activities.

Golf, baseball, basketball and football are the primary sports at JJC. The Wolves earn their letter jackets by the number of minutes they participate in their particular sport.

Besides re-hashing old plays and experiences, the men sponsor skating parties, dances and also an annual banquet, at which time awards are presented to the most valuable player.

Officers for the Lettermen's Club are: Herb Boginis, president; Ted Laatz, vice-president; Paul Whitmore, secretary-treasurer; and Don Brown, student council representative.

Lettermen Attracted From All Sports . . .

Boosters do give a big boost to all the events at JJC. These events include not only the games, but the dances and parties on the social side, and the clean-up of school property on the work side.

Miss Dorothy DeSplinter of the gym department sponsors the ambitious Booster group.

BOOSTERS' OFFICERS: Bob Brandolino, vice-president; Mike Conway, president; Mary Lou Fonck, secretary-treasurer; and Larry Lerfald, student council representative.

Boosters Boost JJC Activities . . .

Halls Ring As Fresbmen

The 1959-60 crop of freshmen arrived at JJC with a bang. We were the biggest class ever to be enrolled at the college, and we were determined to make our record a good one. We were determined, too, to have a good time. Both of these things we managed to achieve.

Now as we look back over the past year we see a happy image of all the good times we enjoyed in and out of the classrooms. Because we were an active class, such names as Ed Matesevoc, Hank Marshall, Bill Sparlin, Judy Widlowski, and Dennis Wilhelmi appeared on the team rosters during the various athletic seasons.

Dramatics, too, had a place for the freshmen. Joan Krohn directed one of the oneact plays and such players as Tom Wheeler, Bonnie Rydell, Barney Machaj and many others emerged from the ranks of our class to participate in and contribute to the success of the three-act play as well as the one-acts.

During our first semester Gordon Kay led the way as class president; he was ably assisted by Jerry Widlowski as vice-president, and Carolyn Cummings as secretarytreasurer. The second semester brought a change in officers as Jim Garrison took over the office of president and Harlan Davis assumed the position of second executive. Carolyn Cummings retained her job as secretary-treasurer.

We didn't lag behind in social events either! We sponsored a fun-filled, well-attended New Year's Eve dance, and helped present the annual Spring Formal at the Sabre Room in Chicago.

It's been a busy year for us, but now we're looking forward to another one beginning in September of 1960.

These boys find there are a lot of forms to fill out when you attend junior college.

Kay Zusag shows freshmen Sharon Zamkovitz that it's fun to work on decorations.

Bill Purdy, Bill Purdy and friend seem to think something is funny. Must have been a good one!

Freshmen Take Part

Freshmen and sophomores both take time to study and converse in the library.

Dennie Sue Batis seems to be having trouble with the room numbers, but Joe Pesavento will get her straightened out.

Many of the students from Joliet Township High School take advantage of the courses offered at JJC.

Jim Skiotes, Dennie Sue Batis, Jerry Randolph, and Ed Matesvac take time out for a favorite JJC pastime -- hall lounging.

Dawn Hartwig and John Darin find it relaxing to stop in the cafeteria for a talk.

And Upper Classmen. . . Two

As we, the sophomores of Joliet Junior College, complete our first two years of college we pause to wonder what the future will hold for us -- what the 60 's will bring. The world is full of challenging new fields in which we as graduates will find vast regions for exploration.

But before exploring the future, we must take time to ponder over the past two years. JJC has offered many rewarding experiences. To some of us it offered a chance to participate in student government. It enabled others to become stars in the sports field. With the help of our teachers and classes, it aided each of us in the search for his own special path.

We spent countless hours in the library -- studying for exams, looking for term paper material, and trying to absorb all the knowledge to which one is exposed during the college years.

As we prepare to leave junior college we realize how many changes have marked this institution since we marched in two years ago. We have a new cafeteria, an enlarged library, a new smoker and Press Club office; new classes have been opened and a Human Relations Commission has been founded. If so many things can happen to our school in two short years, what is to happen to our class during the next ten? No one knows, but each is eager to find out.

Sophomores Participate In School Activities . . .

Joan Shepley, Jim Agazzi and Carolyn Cummings leave for the annual newspaper conference at MacMurray College.

Sophomore Jerry Hoffman thinks it's allright to leave JJC in the hands of freshmen like Dave Kettwig.

Carrie Juricic could be telling her date it's time to leave for the WALsponsored spring dance.

Those typewriters in the Press Club office are certainly handy when it comes time to hand in a term paper.

These fellows just want a breath of fresh air before going to classes.

lt's hard to tell exactly who this is, but Jeanne Lambert might be a primary suspect.

Through these doors pass the people of Joliet High School, Joliet Junior College and the community.

If you need workers to build a float, Lee Maren, Maggie Schulz and Doris DeBri are willing.

This group of fine smiling people may not be the best dressed in town but you can bet they had a roaring good time at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

"Sadie Hawkins" and a

Miss Wood doesn't look as if she wants to indulge in the "corn likker" being offered by one of the students.

These healthy males were some of those who participated in the beard growing contest to publicize the Sadie Hawkins affair.

Certainly Margaret Boydston (center) looks as if she is having a wonderful evening at the annual spring dance, and she typifies the people who attended that affair.

"Swing Into Spring"

Before the second semester had become firmly established, plans were under way by the Social Council and the WAL for two of the most enjoyable evenings JC students were to have.

The idea of a Sadie Hawkins dance was initiated this year by the Social Council, and they did it up in fine style. A beard-growing contest was run for weeks before the dance to see which male could produce the funniest and longest growth. Patched denim and burlap cos tumes were carefully planned, and when the evening of the fun arrived students trooped into the Pershing School gym, which was decorated with straw bales, to square dance and have the time of their lives.

An air of gaiety and relaxation lay over the semi-formal affair put on in the JT gym by the Women's Activity League. An orchestra played, refreshments were served, and another delightful evening was spent.

Even the chaperones are enjoying themselves as shown by the looks on the faces of Mr. Tyrrell, Miss Lemanski, Miss Smith, and Mr. Rexer.

Narration for "Under Milk Wood" was supplied by Charlene Westerwelle and Barney Machaj as the First and Second Voices, respectively. These people did a fine job of setting the mood and background of Llareggub, the small Welch Village. In order to do this they memorlzed pages and pages of lines.

"Under Milk Wood"

This year's three-act play, 'Under Milk Wood" by Dylan Thomsa, directed by Mr. Daniel McCarter, was unusual and interesting in type and presentation. Proclaimed as a play of voices, 'Under Milk Wood" had over fifty speaking parts, but only fifteen people were used to portray all of these characters. Little scenery, few props, and unique lighting were used in the portrayal of a day in the life of a Welch town. It was an inviting and amusing performance, and one the audience will remember for a long time.

Several of the JC players who appeared in "Under Milkwood" later received Argan awards from the club for their fine jobs in dramatics during the past two years.

Hamming seems to come naturally to actors, and Jeanne Lambert and Larry Johnson (above) and Mary Lou Fletcher and Joan Krohn (below) give a good sample of it while on the set of "Under Milk Wood."

Both smiles and tears are the surprised reaction of W. A. L. candidate Kay Zusag, as master-of-cermonies Jerry Hoffman crowns her queen of the J. J. C. 1960 Spring Formal. Proud escort Dick Adamson, left, assists Jerry.

Queen Kay, with her court of seven, reigned for the evening as J.C. students danced away the annual spring formal, "Oriental Holiday." The Sabre Room in Palos Park, Illinois, with its exotic decor, provided the far-Eastern setting. A new tradition was started by having the balloting for the spring formal queen take place at the dance itself. Lovely portraits of the candidates were displayed to aid the voters.

As the evening of the dance, Friday, May 13, draws closer, the tri-general chairmen Fred Shoen, Pat Treseder, and Larry Hawkinson are kept busy with last-minute details.

Joe Edmon, Mrs. Edmon, Bob Knott, Mrs. Knott, Don Brown, Mrs. Brown, a group at the head table, anticipate the program.

Mothers Honored at Banquet . . .

Because the men of JJC wanted to honor their mothers, the Student Council planned a Mother -Son Banquet, which was held May 4th in the high school cafeteria. Chairmen Bob Knott, Jerry Sicinski, and Don Brown, made the necessary plans. The girls of JJC did not want to be left out, so they volunteered to help serve the banquet. Don Brown welcomed the mothers and Mrs. Ray Lichtenwalter gave the response. Jerry Sicinski was the master of ceremonies. After a group songfest led by Dean Rowley, Joe Edmons gave a reading. An interesting travelogue was given by Miss Irma Agazzi, guest speaker, about her trip by canoe down the Solomon River. After this year's big success, the Student Council plans to make the banquet an annual event.

Dennie Sue Batis and Kay Zusag, two of the waitresses, help set the tables in preparation for the banquet.

Miss Agazzi, guest speaker, tells of her journey down the Solomon River.

If Music Be the Tongue. . .

The audience found it hard to refrain from reacting to the rhythm of the jazz band.
'If Music Be The Tongue," this year's spring musical, was an experiment by Dr. Dellinger and the choir in music entertainment. 'Dr. D" and his choir wanted to see if they could blend all styles of music into one harmonious show, so that everyone could find something to suit his taste in music.

The choir leaders dedicated the show to Miss Vera Thalrose, JJC's modern dance instructor, for her devoted work in past musicals. The planners divided the show into three acts; the first part was entitled 'God Speaks," and was acted out in modern dance; the second act, "The College Speaks, " starred many of JJC's singers; the third act, "And Jazz Talks Too," featured the college swing band. All in all, this year's musical was one to remember.
 The setting of the second act was a cast party in which Jim Reeves was the host.

Coach Gil Bell's 1960 Joliet Junior College Baseball squad posted a 3-7 over-all record and a 2-5 record in Illinois Junior College Conference play.

Highlite of the season was the no-hitter tossed by freshman Jerry Pius. A mid-term transfer student from the University of Illinois, Pius fired his no-hitter against Wilson JC of Chicago, but an unearned run in the first inning gave the Raiders a 1-0 decision over the Wolves.

Joliet got the only two hits off Wilson pitching. Bill Emerson and Jack O'Brien both tagged singles.

The Wolves opened the season on a sour note, losing to St. Procopius College of Lisle, 9-1. Joliet was forced to go against this seasoned 4-year college squad after having only one outside practice session.

Joliet scored its lone run in the third. Emerson led off with a double, Gary Wilhelmi walked, and Ray McCabe's double-play ball forced Wilhelmi at second but moved Emerson to third. Bob Startz doubled down the left field line, scoring Emerson to avoid a shutout.

Baseball '60'

The season's second game saw the Wolves bounce back to defeat the Purdue Extension University, 9-4. at Nowell Park.

Pius went eight innings and Wilhelmi hurled the final frame to insure a victory. Bob Maslan and McCabe were the "stick" stars of the Purdue game. Each got two hits. Purdue worked Joliet's pitchers for six hits, while the Wolves lined out seven.

Game No. 3 saw Joliet run up the biggest score of the season as the Purple and White drubbed Crane JC of Chicago 28-3.

Joliet slammed out 20 hits, while O'Brien gave up only four to Crane batters. Hitting stars were Emerson, who went four-for-four, Maslan, Jim Madsen and Matt Kozuh, who each got three hits, along with McCabe and Jim Scolari, who swung away for two safeties.

The next outing saw Joliet out-slug Morton JC of Cicero 15-8, but wind up on the short end of a 12-11 score. In the slugging department, eight of the nine Joliet starters hit safely.

The Wolves were ahead 11-10 going into Morton's half of the eighth frame. Bob Smith came on to pitch for Joliet. He got the first batter on a pop-up but a single to the next Joliet's big innings were No. 4 and No. 5 , when eight runs crossed the plate. The only innings in which Joliet failed to score was the eighth. Elgin picked up its lone run in the third.

Unbeaten Thornton JC of Harvey made it 10 straight when the Bulldogs blanked the Wolves 7-0 to start the final week of play. Joliet got four hits, Thornton got five, but seven errors spoiled the Wolves' victory hopes.

Joliet out-hit LaGrange 15-7 but were outscored in a 16-10 slugfest. LaGrange pushed across six runs in the first and were never headed despite three Joliet rallies.

Wright JC of Chicago spoiled the Wolves' season finale, as numerous errors cost Joliet a 9-4 conference game. Joliet pushed two runs across in the seventh and ninth but could not keep pace with the Rams, who represented Region 4 in the National JC Baseball tournament at Pueblo, Colorado.

Madsen, who prepped at Lemont, copped the batting title, slamming out nine hits in 23 trips to the plate for a .391 slugging. One of his nine hits was Joliet's lone home run of the ' 60 season. scored the two runners Wilhelmi had walked.

Next came Pius' no hitter, and the following Saturday the Wolves invaded Stateville, coming out on the short end of a 19-0 score. The Wolves could scatter only five hits with Scolari getting two.

Joliet posted its second IJCC win over Elgin by a $14-1$ score. Wilhelmi fired a three-hitter, and his teammates backed him with 10 hits.

J J C Tennis Season

Joliet Junior College's 1960 tennis squad, after getting off to a slow start, finished the season with a 4-4 match-play record and tied for first at the Illinois Junior College Conference matches.

The Wolves were headed by sophomores Bob Van Dyke, Jack Lambakis and Don Fretty. Freshmen squad members were Jon O'Donnell, Tony Golobitsh and Bob Korb.

Joliet dropped three straight dual matches before posting a win, and gradually improved until the conference meet.

Lambakis and O'Donnell, playing in the No. 1 doubles spot, copped the IJCC title, winning four matches at Portage Park in Chicago. In their third match or semifinals the Joliet duo disposed of Thornton's previously undefeated team that was seeded No. 1 in the tournament.

Counting the points scored in the conference meet, the Wolves out-totaled four of the six teams entered and tied with LaGrange, whose No. 1 singles player took the title. This made Joliet's over-all record 8-4-1 for the season.
In the season's opener at LaGrange, Van Dyke scored the Wolves' lone point in a 3-1 defeat by dumping Ed Green 6-3, 3-6, 6-0. Wright tipped Joliet $2-1$ in the second match, with Golobitsh scoring the lone point.

Lambakis was the only Jolietan to win in the first match with St. Procopius College as the Wolves tumbled $5-1$. In a return match with Proco, Joliet won out 4-3. Lambakis and O'Donnell took singles wins, while Lambakis and Golobitsh, along with Van Dyke and Fretty, teamed up to take doubles victories.

Wilson edged Joliet 2-1 on wet courts in Chicago, before the Wolves blanked Morton 3-0.

Thornton forfeited its dual match to Joliet, and the Wolves closed out the season by whitewashing Amundsen 3-0 on the West Park courts.

Director of Athletics, Herm Walser, served as a sponsor for the JJC net squad since a full-time coach was not hired.

The Last Days Are Filled

The volleyball seems a bit undecided as to which way it will go.

"Remember the time when..." was the general thought of the sophomores as they listened to Jerry Hoffman give a reminiscent speech.

with Many Activities . . .

These JC students are quite eager to see the new yearbooks.

At the mixer the students were given an opportunity to look at all of the pictures taken throughout the year.

After studying for exams, students welcomed the relaxation of the final activities of the year. The yearbook mixer, sponsored by the Press Club on June 3rd, will become an annual activity. This mixer was planned so the yearbooks could be distributed while the students had an ample opportunity to autograph them. Tom Nelson's Orchestra provided the music.

By tradition the freshmen sponsored the annual sophomore dinner-dance with the freshmen officers as co-chairmen. The dinner for sophomores was held in the Terrace Room of the Hotel Woodruff on June 8th. After the dinner Sonny Lawrence's Combo furnished dance music.

The final all-school activity was the picnic held at Inwood Park on June 7 th. Aside from the food, the big attraction was the tug-of-war contest between the sophomores and freshmen boys. (The sophomores won.)

Commencement Is the Beginning

The realization that two years of college are past is uppermost in these students minds as they go to receive their diplomas.

Black caps and gowns... honor guides in pastel formals... green grass of Memorial Stadium. . .blue skies and silver stars... white diplomas... these are a few of the impressions of the commencement exercise held June 10th for one hundred and ninety-two JC sophomores.

Jerry Hoffman, representing the junior college graduates, talked on "Danger of Indifference," which challenged the graduates to think. After Supt. Hugh S. Bonar made the awards, Mr. Norman A. Keck presented the diplomas as Dean Rowley read the names of the graduates.

Two years of college have vanished for these graduates. The fleeting impressions are now past experiences, but no matter what the graduates may remember of the past, the future will continue to have the Forward Look. . .

Bill Caisley, Mildred Lukancic, David Earls, and JanetSifferd are honored scholastically as they receive the Adam Award.

Jerry Hoffman, chosen to Fepresent the Junior College graduates, spoke on the "Danger of Indifference," stressing the apathy of everyday living.
